SPLENDID WORK OF NAVY RELIEF SOCIETY SHOWN

Twelfth Annual Report is Made.
With Details of F-4 Fund
Distribution

Splendid work of the Navy Relief Society and its handling of the F-4 fund is brought to notice by the receipt in the last mail of the twelfth annual report of the organization.

It will be recalled that the F-4 is practically the only special fund which the organization has and the value of placing this money in the hands of people who understand how to distribute it so as to accomplish the most good is at once apparent.

Assistant Treasurer Reynolds gives the following detail of the F-4 fund and its expenditure:

Receipts.
Fund collected at Honolulu: $4,511.51
From U. S. S. Maryland: $44.50
Entertainment at Washington 1914-15: $6,413.01

Expenditures.
To beneficiaries: $2,796.00
Balance on hand Dec. 31, 1915: $8,113.01

Z. W. REYNOLDS,
Assistant Treasurer, Navy Relief Society.

Examined and found correct. D. McD. Le Breton, auditor.

Corresponding Secretary Le Breton makes this reference to the fund and the method of handling it:

"In addition to the general fund of the society, a special fund was created during the year for the benefit of the families of the men lost on the submarine F-4 off Honolulu in March, 1915. Many of these men left wives and mothers entirely dependent on them for support, and were it not for the prompt action of the relief society these poor women would have been left in a destitute condition. Over $4500 was received from Mrs. C. E. T. Moore, donated by the citizens of Honolulu for the benefit of these families, to which amount was added the proceeds of a lecture organized by ladies of Washington, D. C., and a sum received from the U. S. S. Maryland. These contributions, aggregating $6,413.01, were placed in the F-4 fund, which has enabled the society to make a liberal monthly payment to each widow and dependent mother, deprived of their means of support through that unfortunate accident."

It is in the interests of the general navy relief fund that the ball is to be given at the armory May 13 under the auspices of the ladies of the naval station headed by Mrs. C. J. Boush.

WRITES OF HARDSHIPS
IN CHASE AFTER VILLA

Descriptive of the hardships for men and horses met in the chase after Villa across the Mexican deserts, a letter from Capt. James E. Fechet, 7th Cavalry, has just been received by his wife. Capt. Fechet recently left Honolulu for the mainland, being assigned to duty on the border.

Forced travel and scarcity of food and water are mentioned as among the things which try the troops. Horses in large numbers have died, he says. Most of the marches have been made at night, and in two nights of hard marching the captain's company made 85 miles.
